

SCHOOL LIFE

Children fight child aggression by Sport

Unfortunately, in modern world child aggression is very common. For this reason at our school "Aleko Konstantinov" the project "Success", organized a section, which will try through sports games to focus children energy in the right direction.

We will work for the development of qualities: discipline, self-control, hygiene habits, health . Students will improve their vitality , motor skills and habits, and especially to work for strengthening health and psyche.

The purpose of the section is the children by their favourite sport games to build moral qualities, self-improvement and personal expression.

Sport games will help to motivate more students to engage systematically with exercises and sport.

In section wished to include 12 children eager to start work.

Lyudmila Parapanova - a teacher of physical education and sport

We are in Europe

Eight of the most famous Italian musicians

Bulgarian love to Italy and Italian music dates back many years. The unforgettable hits from the Apennines have settled permanently both in native radio programmes and collections of thousands of music fans in the country. With greeting to all who love music from Italy, here are 8 of the most famous Italian singers and musicians.

1. Adriano Celentano

In 1957 Adriano won a contestant in Milan with his song "Ciao ti diro "and in 1961 his "24000 baci" is second in San Remo. A year later he creates "Clan Celentano" –a company for production of records and films. In 1970 he won the first Prix San Remo with song "Chi non lavora non fa l'amore ", which he performs together with his wife Claudia Mori. He starred in many movies, in part of which he is a producer, screenwriter or an author of music.

2. Al Bano

As young man he was inspired by Domenico Modugno, an Italian pop singer. The real name of Al Bano, is Albano Carrisi, who moved from his home town town San Cellini Marco to Milan to enter his career in popular music. Al Bano received the opportunity to travel around Italy together with "Clan Chelentano" on tour. In 1967 he released his first album "Nel Sole". Al Bano met a singer -Romina Power and soon they began singing together. They made their debut in 1975with the album "Atto I and Dialogo".

With multiple participants in the world famous festival in San Remo Al Bano was named the best-selling Italian artist from the 80s until now.

3. Toto Kutunyo

Calvatore "Toto" Kutunyo is an Italian singer,composer and musician.

His musical career began in 1970 when he worked with composers, including Adriano Celentano, Dalida, Mireille Mathieu, Johnny Hollyday and Joe Dassin. It has been member of the group "Albatros", which is involved two times of the San Remo Festival. In 1978 started first successful solo career. Two years later he won first prize at the festival in San Remo with the song "Solo Noi". In 1983 he released the album "L'Italiano" with the hit song "L'Italiano" which became his biggest international hit.

With the song "Insieme: 1992" he won Eurovision Song Contest.

4. Eros Ramazzotti

Eros Luciano Valter Ramazzotti is an Italian singer and composer.

With his 11 studio albums, two live albums, two compilations and over 40 million sold albums, Eros Ramazzotti is one of the most productive Italian singers and composers for all times. In the discography Eros has his duets with big names such as Cher, Tina Turner, Andrea Bocelli and Anastacia.

5. Andrea Bocelli

Andrea Bocelli is an Italian opera singer. At the age of 12 year he lost his sight. He sang in the opera "La Boheme", "Tosca" and "Il Trovatore". He made duet with Sarah Brightman, Celine Dion, Katharine McPhee (from "American Idol"), Jennifer Lopez, Christina Aguilera, Laura Pausini and others.

6. Ricchi e Poveri

For the first time appeared to the public in 1968

A discoverer of young talents heard them and said, "You are rich in talent, but you do not have a damn. So he gave the nickname of the group, whose name is translated as "Rich and poor ". The quartet was spotted in contest talent in Genoa in 1968 and quickly became popular in Italy in the early 70s of the last century. Only a month after issuance of the album "E penso a te" (1981) the group is already trio and is at the forefront of Italian and European charts.

7. Luciano Pavarotti

Luciano Pavarotti is an Italian opera singer that achieves enormous fame. He became one of the most successful tenors of all time.. He is one of the three tenors who are well known for their concerts in front of a large audience and media appearances.

One of the merits of Pavarotti's his well-known activities - for children; refugees, victims of war; Shares of Red Cross and etc. The last appearance of Luciano Pavarotti on the scene is on 2006 Winter Olympics Games in Turin where for the last time, the audience heard his voice in "Nessun dorma! "On September 6, 2007, he died at his home at the age of 71.

8. Zucchero

Adelmo Fornachari, more famous with his nickname- Zucchero- is a pop singer. His music is influenced by many styles-blues, gospel, soul, and rock.

He was born in the small

Italian town Ronkochezi in Emilia Romagna. His nickname-Zucchero (sugar) is given when he was a child by his teacher in elementary school who called him "marmellata e zucchero" ("jam and sugar "). Songs like "Senza una Donna (Without a Woman) ", " Il Volo ", " Baila (Sexy Thing) ", " Occhi "are a small part of the hits of Zucchero, which brought him world fame.

IN THE WORLD OF PROFESSIONS

Archaeologist

Probably many of you young readers want to know the past of our planet and ask how it looked like a thousand years ago, what plants and animals lived there, how people lived. To learn interesting facts of past eras, archaeologists help us. The archaeologist leading researcher, is necessary to know the characteristics of people's lives in the past, and their culture. They use remains, architectural artifacts found at excavations. Archaeologist examines artefacts. During the excavation they try to find which of ancient civilization they belong to and to which historical period is concerned for. To become an archaeologist, you have to get higher education in the field of archeology. You can work in different scientific colleges, organizations and museums.

Zdravka Petrova - pedagogical advisor

My favourite book

My favourite book is „The Adventures of Pinocchio. " Its author is Carlo Collodi. I like this book because it is funny and ridiculous. My favourite part of it is when: Pinocchio is hungry and looking for an egg to make an omellet but in the most important moment the omellet flew through the window. I recommend this book because it is so interesting. Nowhere else you can meet such or similar story where wooden man can talk.

Gergana Genova 5g class

INTERVIEW WITH GALE ZOE GARNETT-ESPECIALLY FOR BULGARIAN READERS

On the occasion of the forthcoming meeting with Gale Garnett -author of the novel," Fierce Adoration" we made an interview with her:

Question: Why did you write this book?

Answer: I wrote "Fierce Adoration" because I constantly see abnormally greedy behaviour when a rich person dies. Even if he is not rich enough and has very few belongings. Especially from relatives and even people who are not always "bad". Also kind people who are good to a person but are capable of terrible harm to each other.

Question: Why did you write things like that and in the way you write them?

Answer: I write what I write because some character or characters arrive and refuse to leave. Once they stay, I write about them and this continues until terminate its presence. Others appeared by professional consultation in the process of work. At the beginning I do not even notice them. They change direction but I let them run on the new track,even later I have to remove them. Petra appeared in that way.

Question: Are you influenced of some other arts. If is yes, which and how?

Answer: I am a working actress since I was a child. I write books, I can not escape of acting habits. I'm not a dancer, but when I describe a character which dance, I dance in my room (terribly bad) his or her dance. In short, if a dancer reads my book, can not say, "This it is not so. "Painting and sculpture also affect me, although I have no talent for any of them.

Question: Tell us something about yourself. What else do you do when you do not write?

Answer: Playing as an actress, travelling, learning languages. Cook. Laugh at funny things.. Going to the cinema, to the theater, to gallery, museums and cafes-everywhere. Listen to world music. Visit my friends, play sport. Adore to be in my little studio in Vizbi. But whatever else I do, I always write.